

RESUME & WRITING SOLUTIONS

SERVICE GUIDE

Welcome

There's usually only one of two reasons you haven't contacted me regarding your resume:

01

You already have a 6-figure, interview generating, resume that is expertly written to impress the decision-makers around you, grow your salary, and land your next promotion.

If that's you, then bravo! You've done your homework and learned what it takes to propel your career to new heights.

02

You're not sure whether hiring someone to write your resume is worth the time and money when you could just DIY and hope for the best.

That's you, isn't it? And I hear you, that's a fair point. But let me ask you a question...

If your dream job was handed to you on a silver platter, would you readily have a resume that you're proud to send to the hiring manager? Or are you going to have to dig up an outdated resume that reads like your obituary?

Listen. Life is too short and time is way too precious to spend worrying about your damn resume. And as a busy person myself, I understand that time is our biggest asset. So why waste it on frantically throwing something together at the last minute when you could have a recession-proof resume package ready to send at any moment.

Y'all know my motto...

"If you stay ready, you don't have to get ready"

Let's create a resume package so irresistible that the companies you've fantasized over will be fighting over you!

Where Does The Cost Come From

If you're targeting a $100,000 salary and aren't currently working at that rate, you're losing $8,333 every month.

If you're vying for a promotion that will yield you a raise, and you don't get it, that raise becomes a loss.

What if you could land your job one month sooner and retain that $8,333? Would you spend $750 to ensure you don't continue to lose $8,333 a month?

For both scenarios, we're not even including the compounding loss of having future raises based on lower salaries and losses stemming from additional months of working for less.

I began writing professional resumes after hiring a professional resume writer to do my own. Immediately, I saw the value. I landed an interview and a new job, making significantly more money within 2 weeks! A professionally written resume shouldn't be seen as a "cost" – it's a strategic marketing investment that can actually earn you money.

In 2016, I founded Resume & Writing Solutions, and since then, my expertise in resume writing has helped hundreds of people land interviews for their dream jobs. So let me work my magic and take your career to the next level.

Are We A Good Fit?

If you understand the value of investing in yourself to land your dream job sooner, then we're an excellent fit.

Over the last decade, I've done some serious work around harmful job search beliefs that job seekers tend to harbor.

Put a finger down for each one of these phrases you've said or thought:

- I'm not good enough for that job
- Recruiters are assholes
- Selling myself is sleazy
- I don't feel comfortable asking for THAT much money
- If I quit my job, even though I hate it, what if the next one is worse
- The job market is like a casino—only the lucky win.
- I feel weird with more success (yes, this is a real thing)
- You have to work harder to have a better job
- What if I ask for more and they say no? Will they fire me?
- I don't deserve it
- That kind of salary is for smarter people, not for me

The list goes on and on...

These beliefs have nothing but a knock-on effect when looking for a job. If you go into your job search already thinking the worst, naturally, it will limit the kind of results you get.

So what can you do?

To start, you can learn how to properly position yourself as a valuable candidate (both on your resume and LinkedIn Profile) and conduct a job search with companies that want exactly what you have to offer.

Job searching is a self-marketing project that doesn't have to be slimy, sleazy, or left to the luck of the draw. It's about knowing your worth and owning it!

So, if you're ready to make an investment in yourself, don't hesitate to schedule a consultation call. We'll turn all those self-limiting job search beliefs on their heads! I'll show you how to write a jaw-dropping resume, create an eye-catching LinkedIn profile, and conduct a laser-focused job search that'll actually yield the results you desire.

Testimonials

Resume And Writing Solutions did an excellent job helping me market myself to prospective employers. I got so many calls I had to silence my phone. I took a new job within the same agency with a company that pays all of my benefits and my family's benefits, 401k matching at 6% vested on day 1. Additionally, I was able to negotiate my leave, $5k training budget, and gym money... but the best part is the salary because it is more than I ever thought I would make (just shy of 200k) the resume you wrote attracts A LOT of attention!! So, thank you so much again! Now to get more certs so I can add to that number!

I have worked in the federal government for 25 years. Shortly after their help, I was promoted to a GS13 and then a GS14 position within the federal government. I also BQed for an IR04 position. Additionally, I've referred her to my wife and adult children when they were looking for a career move. I highly recommend Resume And Writing Solutions to anyone thinking of a career move.
